CHALK ONE UP FOR MAROONS

The canning factory crowd of ball from Christie's bunch of beauties at the ball park yesterday. The Maroons are like the Indian inasmuch as they never forget an injury, and the scandalous treatment received at the hands of the Lobsters last Sunday was still fresh in the memory of the local bunch as they faced their rivals in yesterday's as they faced their rivals in yesterday's game. Ogden tried the old game of starting the balloon in the ninth, and it must be confessed that for a minute or two there was a large sprinkling of fans in the grand stand and bleachers that held their breath, when Bert Margetts faced the batter for the Lobsters. Bert was a Lobster yesterday and behaved himself very satisfactorily—that is, for those who wanted to see the home team win.

is, for those who wanted to see the home team win.

Manager Binford was short a man on account of the illness of Jensen, and was given Bert to help him out. When Margetts faced the pitcher in the ninth there was one out and two men on bases. A hit at this stage would have tied the score and Margetts nearly. tied the score and Margetts nearly gripped the bat handle in two as he swung on the ball. A high fly to Heusser, however was the best Bert rould do. "Squatty" Scott came up next and bunted a little one down to Camp Did Good Work.

Weberites had a look in excepting the first four innings, when it was a toss up. Camp did the twirling for the locals and redeemed himself in the eyes of the fans, while Big Fullmer did the pitching for the visitors. Camp was hit the more freely of the two, but the hit the more freely of the two, but the hit the more freely of the two, but the hit the more freely of the two, but the hit the more freely of the two, but the hit the more freely of the two, but the hit the more freely of the two, but the hit the more freely of the two, but the hit the more freely of the two but the hit the more freely of the two but the hit the more freely of the two but the hit the more freely of the two but the hit the more freely of the two but the two but the first four innings, when it was a toss of and see if he could not get into snap of and see if he could n damage, while the collegian had all the best of it on the strike-outs.

Ogden's first and only run was given it by the umpire, who allowed Scott to walk in home on a dead ball. However, in justice to the northern boys, must be said that the Lobsters would ave gone the run anyway, as two safe its were made after the incident. A it by Kimerer and a two-bagger by Egan, coupled with a sacrifice by Spaulding, Mahoney's muff of Camp's high infield fly, and a long caught fly to left field by Brynes, gave Salt Lake her two runs in the fourth inning. The Maroons scored again in the sixth on Byrnes' hit, Camp's sacrifice and Marshall's error.

Work of the Umpire.

In speaking of the game it would not be just to overlook the work of Umpire Ferguson, in fact, many thought it the principal feature of the game. His decisions against the home team were something fleroe. Not only on balls and strikes was his eye away to the bad, but his decisions on bases were enough to make a local fan want to leave his happy home. The grand to leave his happy home. The grand stand and bleachers were in favor of burning him at the stake, but wiser heads prevailed and they let him off

However, in justice to Ferguson it must be said that he acknowledged after the game that he was away to the bad, and had on several occasions given Salt Lake the worst of it unintentionally. He said he had made several mistakes by giving his decisions too soon, but that he would not change them afterwards. The summary: Ogden.

to have found a berth on the Salt Lake team, got decidedly the worst of it yesterday when the umpire called him out on strikes, the first time up. His third strike was a mile wide. Right after this, Ferguson tried to call Davey out when he went from first to second on Heusser's walk, but the grand stand raised such a howl that he changed his decision.

Clevelands Meet Soldiers—Calders

Ogden's single run was a gift by the umpire. Scott was on second, when a pitched ball hit Hausen and glanced over Byrnes' head. Scott started for home from second and was given the laugh by the grand stand, bleachers and Maroon players, while Byrnes leisurely trotted after the ball. When he reached the home piate he was called safe. Then there was a how! sent up that made things look riotous for a few minutes.

this kind, expecting the ball to be caught.

Kimerer had his fouling clothes on yesterday and the way he sent Fullmer's curves over the grand stand was enough to dishearten any pitcher. In two innings he knocked just fourteen fouls. Kimerer also did a little fielding, pulling down four long drives in left field.

Egan made a pretty stab catch of Margetts' Texas leaguer to short right field. It resulted in doubling Spilman out at first.

Spaulding was called out at first on one occasion when he was safe by ten feet. Hausen saw the ball coming and tried to get back, but there was too much speed in it and he was nabbed by a foot.

Manager Christie announced last even-ing that he had re-signed Spaulding. Many of the fans will be glad to hear this, as "Mickey" is a good man when in shape.

Mauser, the Maroons' third baseman, récelved a wire from his home in San Francisco last evening, asking him to return at once. He asked Christie for his release and was given it under the circumstances. Mauser played a rattling good third base on the coast, but was unable to get his eye on the ball since he came here. However, he handled himself like a ball player around the third bag and if he could have gotten in form he would have made a good man for that bag.

Manager Christic is away to the bad these days with a lame leg. He injured this member in a practice game about a week ago and has been trying to get into the game ever since. He said last evening that he would take a two days' layoff and see if he could not get into shape.

Talk about big league baseball, here are the scores of the last four games played by Salt Lake and Ogden: May 31, Ogden won, 6 to 5; June 3, Salt Lake won, 3 to 0; June 4, Ogden won, 6 to 5 ; June 6, Salt Lake won, 3 to 1. If there is anyone knocking about the kind of baseball this little two-team league is giving them, they ought to stop a minute and read some of the scores of the big eastern and Pacific coast games published in these columns every day. These two teams are putting up a great article of baseball and from the way the fans come in at the gate they seem to realize the fact.

The Calder's team of the state amateur league and o'Brien's Lagoon team are scheduled to play at Calder's park this afternoon. Ames is slated to pitch for the Calder's and in all probability Fox will officiate for the Lagoon. It has been rumored around that Curtis, the mute, would pitch today for the Lagoons, but there is no truth in it, as Curtis was at Des Moines yesterday, where he pitched for the Colorado Springs team.

Up on the fort grounds the new Cleveland team will make its first appearance of the season in a match game with the Soldiers. The Cleveland team is composed of some of the fastest amateurs in the city, and should be able to give the fort aggregation a hard game.

The event is attracting considerable attention on account of the large local following each man has and their previous good records. By defeating Gibbs; McCarthy took quite an upward climb on the fistic ladder, as the colored man is rated high in his class. McCarthy is doing his training at the fire department gymnasium and is showing up in fine form. He has secured Sullivan, the man who gave Jack Munroe all he wanted, as a sparring partner, and, it is claimed, has imporved greatly since he met Gibbs. Christic, the other contestant, is scarcely known outside of this state, where he is considered one of the cleverest men in the ring. In the past he has been noted for his speed, but the fight fans claimed he did not have the punch to do the business. Christic was well aware of this a year ago, and since that time has been hard at work developing a punch, and he will surplice the first fan when he steep into local following each man has and their was sixth. WATER RUSHING THROUGH.

Break in the Madison County Levee Was Disastrous.

St. Louis, Mo., June 6.—The break in the great Madison county levee, which gave way yesterday, has widened and today the water is rushing through a gap 100 yards wide, covering 20,000 acres of fertile farm land and three villages —Oldenburg, Mitchell and West Grapsite.

Horse Allowed His Own Pace,

Just sitting still and allowing the horse to do his best, was the part played by Gray. Gradually McChesney came to the front, and when Gregor K proved unable to gain Jockey Gray eased up and won by a little over a length. For Gregor K it must be said that he ran a good race. Hargis maintained his speed and ran third. The time of the race was 2:10 3-5, which was good considering the track condi-

Taking it all in all, the members of the athletic association look forward to a successful year.

IN GREAT LUCK Duffey, Clapp and Other Noted College Athletes Compete -No Records Broken.

New York, June 6.—The annual spring athletic meet of the New York Athletic club was held at Travers island today and was attended by fully 7.000 spectators. There was a decided intercollegiate tinge to the majority of the contests. In the hurdles E. J. Clapp of Yale, the intercollegiate champion, carried off the honors. Arthur Duffey of Georgetown, the world's 500-yard champion, gave an exhibition sprint at seventy-five yards, in which he endeavored to break the record, but failed.

Columbia's runners distanced the crack team of the New York Athletic club in the two-mile relay in the fast time of 8:05 4-5. Champion Beck of Yale made a shot put of 45 ft. 4½ in., only a little below his record-breaking put of a week ago. No record was broken.

Anaconda, Mont., June 6.—News from Glasgow tonight is that a general jail Glasgow tonight is that a general jail break has taken place there. William Hardee, a condemned murderer awaiting execution, killed Charles Williams, his death watch, with a 30.30 Winchester rifle which he secured in the jail kitchen. He and the only other prisoner in the jail then took the keys and escaped. Both men are well armed. They swam the Missouri and are now surrounded in a bend of that stream surrounded in a bend of that stream by a big posse. Hardee is expected to fight to the death, as he has no hope, the supreme court having refused him-
